“The Right To Be Heard In International Arbitration”

- How much opportunity should an arbitral tribunal give to a party to be heard in arbitration – a reasonable opportunity or a full opportunity?
- What is the meaning of having an opportunity to be heard – in writing, orally or otherwise?
- Should an arbitral tribunal take into account previous rulings of another arbitral tribunal, a local or foreign court or a temporary determiner such as a dispute review board?
- May an arbitral tribunal rely upon an earlier temporary DAB decision that was decided on false evidence?
- What happens when an arbitral tribunal does not give a party the right to be heard?
